Amirul Momineen Mawlawi Hibatullah Akhundzada's order regarding the powers and duration of the accused's detention for obtaining the information

Decree

If a suspect is identified and information about them is required, only the security and intelligence agencies have the authority to detain them for questioning, and the detention period must not exceed ten days. If additional time is needed to gather information, the court must be requested for an extension. Furthermore, no individual can release a detainee after imprisonment without a court order. Punishment should be avoided during detention, as the authority to impose punishment rests solely with the court. Any punishment inflicted by parties other than the court constitutes not justice but injustice. Therefore, it is mandatory to prevent injustice, and the perpetration of injustice is prohibited.
